My working day begins early. I always get up at 6 o'clock. Before I leave for the university I have a lot of things to do. First of all I do my morning exercises. When doing them I usually open the window and switch on the radio. I like to do my morning exercises to music. Then I go to the bathroom where I wash, clean my teeth and dress. At a quarter to seven I am ready to have breakfast. While having breakfast I often listen to the latest news on the radio or look through the newspapers.

It doesn't take me long to have breakfast. At a quarter past seven I leave for the University. As I live far from the university I go there by bus. It usually takes me half an hour to get there. I seldom walk to the university in the mornings because I have no time.

I am never late. I always come to the university in time. Between classes we have short breaks. I usually have lunch in the university's cafeteria.

As a rule we have three lectures or seminars a day. Classes are over at about 2 o'clock. If I have no meeting I go home. Sometimes I stay at the university if I have some social work to do. Very often I stay at the university as I need a book or an article which I can get only in the reading room. Before or after classes there are a lot of students there. They read different books and journals, work on their reports or study their lessons. After classes I usually walk home. I like to walk after a busy day at the university. When I come home I have dinner and a short rest. Then I do my homework. It usually takes me about three hours. In the evening I have supper and watch TV. Sometimes if I have time I go to the cinema. I usually go to bed at about 12 o'clock.

The Use of Leisure

By the way in which a man uses his leisure his character can be told – more surely in all probability than by the way he does his work. For most men work is necessity in order to gain a living. Vast numbers of men have not even been able to choose what work they would do, but have been forced by economic necessity to take the first job that came their way. But in their leisure time they do what they really want to do and their real selves are reflected in their actions.

Some people are completely passive during leisure hours. If such people go out they go to some place of entertainment where no effort is required by them, a cinema or a dancing hall, and if the latter, they do not dance but simply sit and watch others dancing.

A different kind of person hurries home from work full of eagerness to begin on some scheme which he has been planning for his leisure time. Perhaps his hobby is carpentry or model engineering, or gardening, or he might wish to write, or to study some subjects in which he is interested. This is the creative type of character. For him his leisure hours are full of promise and he can look back on them with satisfaction when he reviews what he has achieved in them.

Leisure should be refreshment; it should send a man out with fresh spirits to battle with the problems of life. Sometimes this freshness comes not from doing anything, but by filling one's mind with fresh springs of beauty. Many a man gets full value from his leisure by contemplating nature, listening to music, or reading noble books. By this sort of occupation he may not have made anything that he can show, but he has none the less recreated his own source of inspiration and made his own mind a richer and fuller treasure house. This is the true use of leisure.

MY SCHOOL

At the age of 6 or 7 all boys and girls go to school. I go to school too. My school is number 338. Our school is large and light. It is neither old nor new. There is a schoolyard around it. There are many trees near the school. You can see a sports ground behind the school. Sometimes we have physical training lessons there. Our school has three floors. There is a workshop on the ground floor. It is big. There are all kinds of tools and machines there. The boys of our school have a woodwork room too. They learn to make things out of wood in this room. There is a room for manual work for girls. It is not on the ground floor but on the third floor. There are some computer classes, and pupils like such school subjects as computing. If you enter the school and go to the left you'll see a dining-room. Here pupils and teachers have their breakfast and lunch. The dining-room is a clean one. There are many nice pictures on the walls. There is a gymnasium near the dining-room. All pupils like to go there, because they like physical training lessons. Our school has a library. It is on the ground floor too. There are a lot of interesting old and new books in it but our library has no reading-room. Our school has many classrooms. We have two English classrooms, History, Geography and Physics classrooms and others. They are big and light and each of them has got two large windows with green curtains, flowers on the windowsills, a bookcase near the door and a blackboard on the wall. The teacher's table with many books on it is situated not far from the blackboard. There are twenty desks and some comfortable chairs in the classrooms. There is a TV set in each classroom. Sometimes it is used during the lessons. There is a school hall on the third floor where meetings, conferences and parties take place. We organize concerts and parties when we celebrate our holidays. The pupils in our school sing songs and dance modern and folk dances and perform plays there. The last bell is organized at our school properly. It is a very remarkable day in the life of all the pupils. The pupils of the first form and the pupils of the eleventh one prepare for this day with great pleasure. The teachers' room is on the second floor. There are tables and chairs for teachers, a TV set and a telephone there. It is a comfortable and cozy room and the teachers like to spend their free time in it. I like my school. I go there and learn new things.

OUR SHOPPING DAY

Our family has a shopping day. It is Saturday. My father gets up early on Saturday. He likes to say that an early riser is sure to be in luck. My father and I usually go to the shops on this day. In the morning we ask mother what we need. We take bags and go to the shops. First of all we go to the butcher's shop. We prefer to eat sausage and meat instead of fish, that's why we buy two kilograms of meat for a week. My father usually takes some tinned meat and we often prepare supper using tinned meat. My brother Roman likes to eat eggs and we often buy ten eggs and three chickens for a week. We usually visit the baker's shop when we go home. My sister Sonya has a sweet tooth and she likes sweets very much, that's why my father and I buy a lot of rolls and buns. The shop assistant usually suggests that we buy cakes, biscuits and tasty tea. For example, I like cakes and coffee and I very often ask my father to buy different cakes. People say that there is no accounting for taste. My father likes coffee and cakes too and he agrees to buy them. One day my two friends Yura and Anton came to see me. Yura had a bag in his hand. He said that his mother had sent him to the greengrocer's shop. I decided that I should go to the shop too, as my grandmother asked me to buy milk and cheese at the dairy. It took us ten minutes to get to the greengrocer's shop because it was not far from our house. The shop was big. The shop windows were nice. Yura explained that his father had already bought carrots, tomatoes and he had to buy potatoes, onions and cucumbers. We looked at the counters and saw fresh vegetables. We asked the shop assistant to weigh three kilograms of potatoes, one kilogram of onions and two kilograms of cucumbers. When she had weighed the vegetables she said how much they cost. Yura took money from the pocket, paid for the vegetables and put all the vegetables into his bag. The bag became very heavy and Anton helped Yura to carry it. He thought that a friend in need was a friend indeed. Then we went to the dairy. We did not take a bus but went on foot. When we came to the dairy there were a lot of people there. We could see a lot of fresh food there but I was asked to buy milk and cheese. It took us five minutes to stand in a queue but it was obvious that we should buy fresh milk and cheese. When I returned home my grandmother was glad that I had bought such tasty cheese and fresh milk and she thanked me for shopping.

THE MANUFACTURED GOODS SHOP

Our family has many interesting traditions. We usually celebrate holidays at home. Having many friends, we invite them to our place. We usually prepare for these holidays: we lay the table, clean our flat and make cakes. Before our family holidays my mother and I go to the shops to buy new dresses. My friends Nastya and Yulya like to come with us. They are my good friends and they usually advise me on what to buy. Last week we went to the department store. It was Saturday. The weather was fine. It was neither cool nor cold. It was spring and it was warm. We decided to buy a nice new suit for my mother and shoes, tights and a blouse for me. When we entered the shop we saw many people there. There were a lot of nice goods in this shop: coats, shirts, skirts, suits, scarves, gloves, tights and blouses. I know that my mother is a woman of taste. She looked at a grey suit and decided to buy it. I liked the red one best of all but I thought that was a matter of taste. I looked at a beautiful white blouse. My friend Nastya said that she had liked this blouse too. I tried it on and saw that it was my size. I was pleased when my mother had bought this nice blouse. But I dreamed about beads and I asked my mother to buy them. My friend Yulya dresses well and she likes to wear beads too. Nastya has a new bracelet on and she is proud of it, because it is made of gold. At last we had bought all the things we wanted to buy. When we returned home we showed our new things to our father and he was glad to see them.

TRAVELLING

I like to travel. Most of all the members of our family I like to take long walks in the country. Such walks are called hikes. If we want to see the countryside, we have to spend part of our summer holidays on hikes. They are useful for all the members of our family. We take our rucksacks, we don't think about tickets, we don't hurry and we walk a lot. During such hikes we see a lot of interesting places and sometimes we meet interesting people. I like to travel by car. It is interesting too, because you can see many things in a short time. When we travel by car, we don't need to buy tickets too and we put all the things we need into the car. We don't carry them. It is comfortable to travel by train and by plane. When I travel by plane, I don't spend a lot of time going from one place to another but it is difficult to buy tickets for the plane. That's why we get our tickets beforehand. I like to fly. If I travel by train or by plane my friends see me off at the railway station or at the airport. Sometimes we go to the seaside for a few days. Usually the weather is fine. It is warm and we can swim. It is a pleasure to watch the white ships. I think that travelling is a very enjoyable thing for us and I enjoy all kinds of travelling very much.

TRAVELLING BY SEA

Almost all people like to travel. When you are on holiday you can travel by car, by train, by plane and by sea. I like to travel by sea best of all. Some years ago we took a cruise along the Black Sea coast, from Sochi to Sukhumi on board the liner "Russia". We went to Sochi by train. Then we went to the seaport and saw our ship. It was big. We liked it very much. I remember the ship and our cabin. Our cabin was comfortable. It had got two berths, a table, two chairs and one wide window and the warm wind was blowing through it. There was fresh air in our cabin during the whole voyage. We had breakfast, dinner and supper on board the ship. When it was time to have meals we went to the restaurant. The weather was fine. After breakfast we spent a lot of time on deck sitting in deck chairs or standing at the rail, watching the ships passing not far from our ship. It was pleasant to watch the waves too. I remember the sunrise and the sunset well. They were unforgettable. In the afternoon I got a parasol because the sun was shining brightly. It was hot in the sunshine. In the daytime we liked to watch the sea-scape. At four o'clock we entered the port Adler. There were some ships there. We saw many people on the pier. We had some free time in Adler and we went for a walk while the ship was in the port. The water was clean and it was easy to swim in the sea. I like the Caucasus and that's why I was happy. At 8 o'clock we went back. The liner was about to sail off. In the evening we watched TV, danced or stayed on the deck when the weather was fine. I enjoyed my trip to the South. This voyage made a deep impression on me.

Any citizen of our country who has a complete secondary education may apply to a medical faculty, institute or university. All the applicants are required to take unified national exams in biology, chemistry and the Russian language. And those who pass exams for the highest scores are admitted. The instruction at higher schools is given by lectures, by group instruction, practical and laboratory work. The attendance of lectures and classes is compulsory for all the students. Our academic year begins on the 1st of September and is divided into 2 terms of four months each. At the end of each term the students have to pass a session: a number of credits and examinations.

Curricula of medical schools include a six-year course in medicine or a five-year course in dentistry and pharmacy and covers the basic preclinical and clinical subjects. In the preclinical years the curriculum is uniform for the students of all the medical specialties. During the first two years students study physics, organic, inorganic, analytical, physical, biological chemistry. They also study human anatomy, physiology, histology, microbiology, Latin, a foreign language and philosophy. Beginning with the third year special clinical subjects are introduced: all branches of therapy, surgery, gynecology, obstetrics, ophthalmology, infectious diseases and others. Senior students have a lot of practical work with patients in clinics, hospitals and out-patients departments. They learn to diagnose and get to know some medical procedures. Beginning with the 1st year students have practical course, when they work at hospitals and clinics. After the 4th year the students have practical course lasting 8 weeks, during which they act as doctors assistants. After the 5th year students take a 6 week practical course in out-patient department.

As for specialization, it begins in the 6th year in either internal medicine and surgery or obstetrics and gynecology. The students work in clinics, polyclinics, sanitary and epidemiological stations. At the same time they attend lectures, seminars and conferences. At the end of the 5th or 6th year students pass the final state examinations and receive their diplomas. Then they can have a further study in residency for specialization. Residents work under the direct supervision of experienced specialists in clinics and in major hospitals. Medical graduates can also apply for the post-graduate course. Pharmacists are healthcare professionals with specialized education and training who perform various roles to ensure optimal health outcomes for their patients through the quality use of medicines. Pharmacists may also be small business proprietors, owning the pharmacy in which they practice. Since pharmacists know about the mode of action of a particular drug, and its metabolism and physiological effects on the human body in great detail, they play an important role in optimization of drug treatment for an individual.

Because of the widespread influence of the pharmaceutical industry, there are many specific and specialized roles for pharmacists in healthcare systems. In addition to common pharmacy practice roles, pharmacists may hold positions in the industry such as:

- Biomedical researcher
- Toxicology pharmacist
- Product development specialist
- Marketing and pharmaceutical salesperson
- Drug information associate
- Quality control chemist

Pharmacists may also choose to work in academic settings to educate the future generation of pharmacists. Examples of academic pharmacy roles include:

- Clinical preceptor
- Residency or fellowship coordinator
- Professor of pharmacodynamics or pharmacokinetics
- Pharmacy practice researcher
- Licensing examination moderator

Pharmacists are represented internationally by the International Pharmaceutical Federation (FIP), an NGO linked with World Health Organization (WHO). They are represented at the national level by professional organisations such as the Royal Pharmaceutical Society in the UK, Pharmaceutical Society of Australia (PSA), Canadian Pharmacists Association (CPhA), Indian Pharmacist Association (IPA), Pakistan Pharmacists Association (PPA), American Pharmacists Association (APhA), and the Malaysian Pharmaceutical Society (MPS).

In some cases, the representative body is also the registering body, which is responsible for the regulation and ethics of the profession. In the United States, specializations in pharmacy practice recognized by the Board of Pharmacy Specialties include: cardiovascular, infectious disease, oncology, pharmacotherapy, nuclear, nutrition, and psychiatry. The Commission for Certification in Geriatric Pharmacy certifies pharmacists in geriatric pharmacy practice. The American Board of Applied Toxicology certifies pharmacists and other medical professionals in applied toxicology.

Задание 1. Прочитайте и переведите текст со словарем.

Our amazing planet is mysterious and extraordinary. It is full of unique phenomena and mysteries. Every day nature pleases us with beautiful sunsets, autumn cobwebs, and a starry sky. Someone enjoys the morning dew, others breathe the frosty air while admiring the white canvas of hoarfrost. But often nature amazes and makes admire such phenomena that literally fascinate or, conversely, induce terrible fear.

You can observe various natural phenomena in different places on Earth. For example, aurora can be seen in the Northern Hemisphere. For the first time the northern lights saw the Scandinavian peoples, deciding that this is a manifestation of the wrath of the gods. In fact, the aurora has an electrical origin. Millions of charged particles collide in air molecules thereby forming a glow. Thanks to oxygen, light is reflected in yellow, green, red. Blue and purple are formed with nitrogen.

Rainbow is the most joyful and amazing phenomenon of nature. A rainbow can be observed immediately after a rain, in the form of reflection of sunlight in water droplets that remain in the air after a rain. The light is refracted and gives us seven colors: red, orange, yellow, green, blue, blue, purple. Rainbow is also double.

The inhabitants of the earth very often can observe an amazing cosmic phenomenon - star rain or stargazing. If you look at the sky, we will see a lot of luminous points that fly from top to bottom towards our planet. During the flight, these points, like her small stars, leave behind a trail of luminous stripes. They do not reach the earth, and burn in the atmosphere in the form of a bright flash. In fact, as scientists explain, falling bodies are not stars, they are meteors. Meteor rain is formed annually during the collision of the Earth with the cosmic flow of meteor particles.

Практическое занятие 28. Экономические и социальные проблемы.

Задание 1. Прочитайте и переведите текст со словарем.

People have lived in our planet Earth for centuries and global problems have always existed. In ancient times the biggest global problem was wars. People have been fighting with each other since beginning of the civilization mostly to get new territories and more land. Today, there are more global problems which can be divided into two categories: ecological problems and social, economic and political issues.

The first category includes issues relating to ecological destruction, pollution and global warming as the result. The climate is changing and many people agree that climate change may be one of the greatest threats facing the planet. Global warming has already killed off some types of animals and plants. Rising sea levels are threatening whole nations on islands in the Pacific and Indian Oceans. The second category of global problems deals with social, economic and political issues. They include global terrorism, poverty, human rights, health issues, racism and many others. We are faced with the problem of global terrorism. And more and more countries are suffering from it. It is difficult to catch terrorists and prevent their acts. The most terrible terrorist attack took place on September 11, 2001 in the USA.

The World Trade Centre, one of the symbols of New York City, was destroyed completely and thousands of people died. The world was shocked and most countries decided to fight against terrorism. However, new terrorist attacks have been committed. Poverty is another global problem. The worst situation is in Africa where people (mostly children) die every day of hunger. The poor also have less access to health, education and other services. Incurable diseases and epidemics also are global challenge for humanity. Another global problem is racism, when people of different races and different skin colour are humiliated and even killed. There are many organisations that fight social global problems, but this battle has lasted for a long time and it will take much time for the solution of all of them. We live in the 21st century and humanity has made a great progress in technology, so I think that it is strange that we still have global problems, especially the ones that deal with social, economic and political issues. I am sure that they can be solved completely without any conflicts or wars.

Задание 2. Подумайте и расскажите об одной из экономических и социальных проблем в современном мире. Ваше предложение по ее решению. Составьте монолог и расскажите перед аудиторией.

WE MUST PROTECT OUR ENVIRONMENT

There are many big and small rivers, green forests, high mountains, lakes and seas in Russia. Our Earth is our home. I think people must take care of our Motherland. There are several laws and decisions on this important subject. We have state organizations which pay attention to this problem. International conventions pay a lot of attention to controlling pollution too. There are a lot of industrial enterprises in our country that's why we can't ignore the problem of the protection of our environment. Our main aim is protection. Our environment must be clean. What must we do? We have to control atmospheric and water pollution, to study man's influence on the climate. The pollution of the environment influences the lives of animals, plants and humans. If we don't use chemicals properly we'll pollute our environment. Our plants and factories put their waste materials into the water and atmosphere and pollute the environment. There are many kinds of transport in our big cities that is why we must pay attention to the protection of our nature and the health of people. Radiation has become one of the main problems. It is not good for people's health. Many people died from radiation some years ago in Chernobol. It was a tragedy. Another problem is earthquakes. We have had some terrible earthquakes in Armenia. Our scientists try to forecast earthquakes so that we can protect ourselves from them. All over the world people do a lot to protect nature, to make their countries richer, to make their lives happier.

Практическое занятие 30. Медицинское образование в США.

Задание 1. Прочитайте и переведите текст со словарем.

After finishing secondary studies the candidate for a medical school must complete three or four years of higher education in a college or university. This period of college or university studies is called "the premedical phase". Students who are taking this course of studies preparing them for a medical school are called "premeds".²⁴ Here they study the main sciences. Only those students who show good results in their premedical training can become candidates for higher medical education. Those who do not continue their education can work as nurses. When a student has completed his premedical studies, he can apply for admission to a medical school. Medical school in the USA is equal to a medical institute in Russia. Academic achievement is the most important factor in the selection of students. In most medical schools candidates are required to pass the admission test which is a national multiple choice test. The test lasts about 8 hours over a one day period and includes questions in biology, chemistry, physics, mathematics and English. After that special admission committees have personal interviews with the candidate in order to assess the candidate's general qualities, his character and his ability to study medicine. The competition is very difficult and only about a half of applicants are accepted and begin their medical education. On entering the medical school every student must pay a tuition fee. The amount varies from state to state and from one school to another. A student's total expenses throughout the year are about several thousand dollars. This creates a financial hardship for some people. Though each school offers a number of grants, many of the students have to work to pay part of their expenses. The curriculum of medical schools in the USA does not greatly differ from the curriculum in the institutes in Russia. Basic medical sciences are presented largely during the first two years of medical studies. First year students study anatomy, biophysics, biochemistry, physiology, bacteriology, histology and other subjects. In the second year they study microbiology, pathology, physical diagnosis, pharmacology and laboratory findings. In the USA the curriculum of medical faculties, has such a subject as Psychology which teaches the student to deal with patients and understand human behavior. During the final two years the curriculum consists of clinical subjects. Medical students have practical work at teaching hospitals affiliated to the medical school, where they work in small groups and participate in treating patients. At the end of the fourth year all students receive the Degree of Doctor of Medicine, that is MD. Then they must work for one year as interns. This course of work at the hospital or clinic is called internship.²⁵ After the internship young doctors must have a period of residency at the clinic. The period of residency is obligatory for all medical graduates. The duration of this period varies depending on the specialty of the doctor. Generally, the period of residency is 3 or 4 years. After the residency the graduate is granted a license to practice.

Educational Requirements for Dentists in USA To become a dentist in United States one must attend a dental school that is accredited by the American Dental Association (ADA). To be accepted into one of the over 50 dental schools in the U.S., one must complete at least two years of pre-dental education. Most dental school applicants must have a bachelor's degree. All dental schools require applicants to take the Dental Admissions Test (DAT). There is a great deal of competition for admission to dental school. Dental school usually lasts 4 academic years. Dental school is intensive, incorporating much of the same curriculum as a typical medical school. Studies begin with classroom instruction and laboratory work in sciences, including anatomy, microbiology, biochemistry, and physiology. Beginning courses in clinical sciences, including laboratory techniques, are also completed. During the last 2 years, students treat patients, usually in dental clinics, under the supervision of licensed dentists. Before graduating, students must pass the National Board Dental Examinations (NBDE) in order to become licensed dentists. After passing the NBDE, the dentists in most dental schools are awarded the degree of Doctor of Dental Surgery (DDS). Some dental schools award an equivalent degree, Doctor of Dental Medicine (DMD). DDS and DMD are different titles for the same education and degree. Following dental school, the majority of dentists choose to move immediately into practice as a general or family dentist. Others follow postgraduate training to become a specialty dentist.

All candidates must have GCSE (General Certificate of Secondary Education) at grade B or A in Mathematics and English. They also must study Chemistry, Biology and Physics at advanced level (A level) before entering any medical school. Tuition fees are charged. Most students receive financial assistance in the form of grants, which cover their expenses wholly or in part. The academic year is divided into 3 terms, each of 10-11 weeks' duration. Undergraduate education occupies five years, consisting essentially of two years of basic sciences and three years of clinical work. Two pre-clinical years are occupied by human anatomy and biology, physiology and biochemistry. They also study physiology, statistics and genetics. Students attend lectures, do dissections and practical work in labs. Unlike Russia, Latin is not taught in all medical schools. Beginning with the third year, students study the methods of clinical examination and history taking, general pathology, microbiology, pharmacology and community medicine. Senior students and especially undergraduates spend most of their time in teaching hospitals which have either in-patient and out-patient departments or units. Students follow up their patients and attend ward rounds. Examinations in medical schools are held at the end of each term. They are called sessionals. Most of the exams are written, they include academic and practical problems. The final examinations are in Medicine, Surgery, Obstetrics and Gynecology and Pathology. Finals also include history taking and diagnosing. Before finals in Surgery students assist in operations. Before finals in Obstetrics and Gynecology they must assist during the delivery at least 20 babies. These examinations are both written and oral. Written tests include 20 short and long questions and questions of multiple choice. Oral tests include diagnosing the case. So, three years are spent in clinical study to obtain degrees of Bachelor of Medicine (B.M.) and Bachelor of Surgery (B.S.). The degrees of B.M. and B.S. gave the right to register as a medical practitioner. After the finals graduates work in hospitals for a year. This period is called internship. The newly qualified doctor must serve for 6 months as a house physician and 6 months as a house surgeon under the supervision of his medical school. House physicians and house surgeons are on call every second and third night. The work of interns is very difficult and their salary is very small. After internship a young doctor obtains a «Certificate of Experience» from the medical school and he or she may work as a medical practitioner. Further specialization requires training in residency. It takes one or two years of work in a hospital in some field. Residency trains highly qualified specialists in a definite field: gynecologist, urologist, neurologists and others. The salary of residents is higher than the salary of interns. After residency a specialist gets rather a high salary. The degree of Doctor of Medicine (M.D.) is a postgraduate qualification obtained by writing a thesis based on original work. It is not required for practice. Such a degree in surgery is termed a mastership (M.S.) Educational Requirements for Dentists in UK Those who want to become dentists in UK and most of the other European countries must attend four or five years of dental school after high school. There are thirteen dental schools in the UK that offer dental courses usually lasting five years and lead to a bachelor's degree either BDS or BChD. The academic requirements for entrance to dental school are high. They vary according to the school and so should be checked individually.

N.I. Pirogov – Russia's First Surgeon

The 19-th century Russian physician, surgeon, anaesthetist, scientist and thinker, innovator was born in 1810. A scientist of genius Nikolai Pirogov was called a scientist of genius even in his lifetime. His career as a researcher, excellent surgeon and clinician was tempestuous. At 18 he graduated from Moscow University; at 22, he became a Doctor of Science; at 26, he was a Professor at Derpt (now Tartu) University, one of the largest in Europe, and at 30, he headed Russia's first field surgery clinic. During his first 30 or so years in surgery, he started a new trend in the study of human anatomy and physiology, based on fundamentally novel methods. His major research works in this field contributed enormously to world science. To this day, Pirogov's methods are among the basic methods in the study and teaching anatomy. Pirogov's truly historic significance lies in the fact that he laid the foundation for the development of Russia's surgery along the lines of natural materialism, viewing a human organism in its entirety, as a single whole. For more than a hundred years now this approach has been the loadstar in the successful development of our surgery, both theoretical and practical. A life of dedication. It is no exaggeration to say that Pirogov's life was an exploit. He was a field surgeon during four wars (in the Caucasus in 1847, in the Crimea in 1854, in the Franco-Prussian war in 1870 and in the Russian-Turkish war in 1877), selflessly saving the lives of the wounded in the most difficult conditions. He in fact created a new medical science, field surgery, and suggested new, rational principles for the grouping, distribution and evacuation of the wounded. His work, Fundamentals of Field Surgery (1864), had soon become a reference book for field surgeons in all countries. He formulated some of the most important principles of treating gunshot wounds, fractures, shock and wound infections, and developed the most ingenious methods of performing operations. He was also the first to apply, on a large scale, plaster-of-Paris bandages in field conditions (in Sevastopol, during the Crimean war), which was a revolution in field surgery. Almost 90 years later, so-called Pirogov's amputation (a conservative-restorative operation on the extremities), marked the beginning of osteoplasty giving a powerful impetus to the development of reconstructive surgery. Genuinely compassionate with the sick and the wounded, Pirogov spared no effort to find ways of relieving their suffering. He was among the first to realize the importance of general anaesthesia and to apply narcosis doing all he could towards its introduction into surgery. He firmly believed that narcosis not only relieved pain, but created the optimum conditions for keeping up the patient's vital functions during an operation. Today, when long and superlong operation are performed (in microsurgery they may last for 18-20 hours), and when the most complicated reconstructive surgery of the heart, the lungs and other organs is practiced, new methods of anesthesia are being developed which keep in mind this perspicacious idea of Pirogov's.

Preventive medicine. Pirogov was most emphatic about the need to closely link between science and practice as well as new medical means and methods in introducing them as quickly as possible. Such an approach has a special ring in our country today, at a time when an accelerated scientific and technological progress is our first – priority objective. Of much interest in this context is also Pirogov's view of the role of universities in the country's life. He considered that universities must not only be centres of training and research, but must absolutely take into account the specific conditions and most importantly, their particular region's requirements. Nikolai Pirogov was the first man in the world to proclaim disease prevention as an important task of medicine. "The future", he wrote, "belongs to preventive medicine". For many years, Nikolai Pirogov lived in Vishnya, a small estate near Vinnitsa, in the Ukraine, and after his death, he was buried there. The place is now the site of the Pirogov Estate – Museum, and a veritable Mecca of surgery. People from all over the world come here to pay homage to the memory of the great Pirogov.
